As Part-Time Testing Coordinator, she looks forward to coordinating the details of testing days in a way that supports teachers and helps students feel confident and focused on the material in front of them. Lindsay loves being a wife and mom, and enjoys reading, helping with women's Bible studies, drinking iced coffee, traveling to places with mountains, and spending time with friends. She is thrilled to join a team that seeks to magnify Jesus and looks forward to connecting more with students, parents, and faculty throughout the year.
